

Hello,

Net Neutrality needs to be kept in place to ensure that the Internet is not monitored and caged. The internet has been a place where knowledge can be shared and many beautiful things have happened. I have been able to gain so much from the Internet in terms of social benefits, finding the greatest food to eat, finding directions to the nearest gas station, and many more!

With how internet services are already provided, we don't have very much choice in terms of who we can choose as a provider. We are limited in our options and if Net Neutrality is repealed, all our information will be at the hands of the sole internet provider we have and it will take away our freedom that we enjoy so much on the Internet.

The FCC should be a governing body that helps to ensure that the Internet is a free place for all of US citizens. The FCC should be regulating the ISP providers so that, if the ISP does anything bad or tries to collect our data, they can be stopped.

Please make sure to keep Net Neutrality for our generation and more to come. The internet is a great place.

Best,
Insoo
